Factors for Consideration in Evaluating of Academic Administrators

The following criteria should be considered, as appropriate, when conducting the evaluation of Academic Administrators:

- Progress in achieving school/department goals in education, research, and service
- Support of institutional mission and goals
- Faculty and/or student recruitment, retention, and development
- Leadership and management
- Promotion of and support for diversity and balance among faculty, staff, and students
- Stewardship of resources
- Communication with faculty, staff, and students
- Promotion of a collegial and professional environment
- Promotion and demonstration of university values
- Enhancement of the school's/department’s local, state, and national reputation
