

SCHOLARLY CONCENTRATION

FAMILY MEDICINE/PRIMARY CARE

All MSI and MSII students with a strong interest in primary care are encouraged to apply!

Mission: Allow students to develop an intimate understanding of generalist medicine by exploring the philosophical underpinnings of primary care and develop knowledge, skills and training in full-scope family medicine through didactic and hands-on experiences.

Educational Opportunities:

- * Clinical exposure with faculty family physicians during the first two years of medical school
- * Primary care faculty mentor – Gives you a leg up at residency application time!
- * Local, state and national family medicine conferences (TAFP, AAFP, STFM)
Leadership training and Procedure workshops
- * Monthly grand rounds, journal club, and procedural lectures
- * Telemedicine in delivery of healthcare in the 21st century
- * Opportunity to take fourth-year electives in rural medicine or primary care procedures
- * Completion of a scholarly research project

Scholarly Research:

Projects can be clinical or behavioral research, development of patient education materials, a community health assessment, or development of clinical or educational software. Projects will be faculty-mentored and presented at State and National meetings.
